She prefers holding and driving the left hand side of a mob but will work both sides. She has a good amount of eye and heading instinct. She has good solid sides, stop, recall both with a whistle (logan brand) and with voice. She is handy in the yards and will bark up a race but not going to be a free backing dog. Her cast is fairly average at the moment but should develop with age. She's suited to someone who wants a young paddock dog coming on, she's been working in the paddock by herself and with a team and handles bigger mobs well. She's a nice dog to have around and should develop into a solid paddock dog.
